ITS RUGBY TIME !

The All Blacks finished 2017 on top of the Investec Table and with the last game against each other played in Cape Town with the Springboks only losing by one point they will be sure to come out with more confidence and will hope to replicate their performance which will ensure a thrilling test match. These teams will meet in Japan in 2019 where both were drawn in Pool B. The prospect of a World Cup match up will add another element to this game at the 'Cake Tin'.

Getting home from the game:

Make your own way back to the hotel
